CONFERENCE GIVES UP ALL EFFORTS TO LIMIT SUBMARINES

BREAK COMES AFTER EXCHANGE BETWEEN BRITISH AND FRENCH

With Finality, French Declare Their Country Must Remain Free of Restrictions

Causes Surprise

Other Nations Express Regret, and British Openly Charge "Submarine Menace"

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 28.—Efforts to limit the naval strength of the powers in submarines and auxiliary warships came to an abrupt end today after they had drawn the French and British arms conference delegates into a plain-spoken exchange over the possibilities of a future war between France and the British Empire.

The French, acting under renewed instructions from their government, told the conference naval committee with an air of finality that France must remain free to build a submarine fleet nearly three times as great as that the now possesses and to construct, in addition, cruisers, destroyers and other auxiliary craft up to a tonnage of 330,000.

To the proposal, the American, Japanese and Italian delegates replied with expressions of surprise and regret, while the British charged openly that such a building program must be regarded as a menace to British shores. Arthur J. Balfour added that he had no doubt, if the occasion arose, Great Britain would be equal to it but only if she reserved complete freedom of action as to the construction of all types of auxiliaries which might be useful against underwater warfare.

Collateral Subjects Discussed.

Agreeing that further argument would be useless, the committee turned its attention to collateral subjects, including regulations for future use of submarines, proposals for limitation of the size and armament of individual auxiliary vessels, and details of the agreement already sealed in principle regarding capital ships.

For the American delegation, Elihu Root proposed a joint declaration reaffirming the obligation of submarine commanders to warn merchant ships before attack, to refrain from sinking vessels whose crews and passengers could not be placed in safety, and to conform in general to all the established practices of international law. In addition, Mr. Root also suggested a change in existing usage so that no proposal was expressed by the representatives of all the powers, but definite action was deferred, should an agreement be reached, it to be submitted to all civilized nations with an invitation for worldwide adherence.

Under a further proposal presented by the American delegation, Elihu Root proposed a joint declaration reaffirming the obligation of submarine commanders to warn merchant ships before attack, to refrain from sinking vessels whose crews and passengers could not be placed in safety, and to conform in general to all the established practices of international law. In addition, Mr. Root also suggested a change in existing usage so that no proposal was expressed by the representatives of all the powers, but definite action was deferred, should an agreement be reached, it to be submitted to all civilized nations with an invitation for worldwide adherence.

The first proposal presented by the American delegation and given but not final approval by the other plenipotentiaries, no auxiliary vessel of more than 10,000 tons could be built by any of the powers, and no airplane carrier could have a tonnage of more than 25,000 tons. A maximum airplane-carrier tonnage of 25,000 for the United States, 80,000 for Great Britain, 48,000 for Japan, 36,000 for France and 28,000 for Italy, was suggested by the Americans.

The net result of the day's deliberations was that actual progress is confined, was an agreement that in future no gun of more than 16-inch caliber shall be mounted on a capital ship and none of more than eight-inch caliber shall be included in the armament of any auxiliary vessel or airplane carrier.

Along with their demand for increased submarine and auxiliary tonnage, the French delegation presented a committee in definite form, but with a reservation attached, their acceptance of the capital ship ratio under which France is said to have a first-line battleship fleet of 175,000 tons. The reservation provides that France be permitted to break in the ten-year naval holiday as soon as the construction of replacement ships in 1927, four years before World War ends.

General Disappointment Prevails. All the powers expressed their disappointment over the French decision, the Japanese, who had themselves decided to accept the compromise.

mite plan, declaring they had hoped until today that an agreement could be worked out along the lines of the reduction plan.

France, declared Mr. Balfour, already had insisted on retaining the largest army in the world and had been allotted a capital ship strength which instead of reducing her present standing as a naval power, actually elevated it. In these circumstances, he continued, it was difficult to believe that the proposed increase in submarine and auxiliary tonnage was designed as a defensive move. He charged that the purpose of so large a submarine fleet was to make an illegitimate attack on merchant shipping in war time and added that the whole proposition must be viewed with "anxiety and disappointment" when it was seen that the new building program was to be carried out at the very door of Great Britain.

In a speech replying in turn to the British statesman, M. Sarrat declared the French government was free from any militaristic desires and had no desire to carry on illegitimate warfare. The French, he said, were merely presenting a program based on their national needs, while the other powers had sought to "authoritatively determine" an allotment for her without consulting her just requirements.

BRITISH AND FRENCH VIEWS ON THE SUBMARINE PROBLEM

Washington, Dec. 28.—Discussing the conclusion of consideration of the submarine tonnage question by the Washington conference, French delegation spokesman tonight said their government was determined to be helpless voluntarily and by written agreement in the presence of Great Britain. At the same time, members of the delegation smiled at suggestions of Arthur J. Balfour of Great Britain in the naval committee which they interpreted as attributing to France a desire to make a sea war on England. Deprecating this, they pointed to the relative size of the two fleets and declared there was a great difference between being unarmed and being "moderately armed."

The policy of Great Britain is now said by French spokesmen to look toward the subordination of France, something which Frenchmen will not consent to "with their eyes open," although unseeing American opinion may be against them."

Mr. Balfour, Vice Admiral de Bon, and other members of the delegation, it was asserted, agreed on the third day of the conference to advise Chairman Hughes of the French naval figures. It was observed that the American, British and Japanese delegations were to carry on their discussion of ration without the presence of French representatives. The French plan as it then stood included 140,000 tons of submarines.

What are described as "the strongest sort of representations" were made the first week of the conference to obtain a hearing for France early in the proceedings, but the conviction in Mr. Hughes' mind, as it was expressed to members of the French delegation, was said to be that it was better for France to wait. French spokesmen are somewhat concerned over having this aspect of the subject perfectly understood in view of statements that they had waited until toward the end of the conference to bring forward issues which would be unacceptable.

White the British Say.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Surprise was expressed by British delegates tonight over the developments in today's meeting of the armament conference naval committee, and it was said time would be required to study the proposition to limit the activities of submarines as well as to analyze the possible results of the French refusal to limit the tonnage of submarines.

"It is sad," a British spokesman said. "It is deplorable that any nation would have taken such a position as we have seen taken today. There can be no limitation now of the number of craft that we must build for anti-submarine purposes."

It was fortunate for Great Britain, he continued, if there was to be unlimited submarine construction, that she possessed a great fleet of trawlers and other steel fishing craft which could be used for anti-submarine purposes, so that she would not have to build to the same extent as other nations.

The spokesman declared that the British were in hearty sympathy with the resolution proposed by Mr. Root today regarding the use of submarines, but he said a plan to restrict the submarine attacks to naval vessels would have no effect upon Great Britain. She would build anti-submarine craft, he said, as no nation could be trusted to abide by such rules when its back was against the wall.

Although the conference had failed to stop expenditures for submarine fleets, the spokesman continued, it would be quite in error to regard the conference as a failure. It was an extraordinary thing, he contended, to have reached an agreement on capital ships. That was the greatest thing ever done to prevent the growth of offensive navies, he added.

It was further said by the spokesman that the failure to fix a limit on submarines made it difficult to fix a limit on the size and character of auxiliaries, particularly aircraft. It appeared, however, he continued, that the 10,000-ton limit proposed for auxiliaries by America might be acceptable, though the British delegates took a big part in the demonstration.

PROHIBITION AND CHRISTMAS

Record-Breaking Business a Striking Demonstration of Progress of Dry Enforcement, Haynes Says.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Christmas business this year was made possible by prohibition, according to a letter from Commissioner Haynes, made public tonight by Acting Prohibition Commissioner James E. Jones.

Mr. Haynes cited "the record-breaking business reported universally by merchants, both wholesale and retail, as a striking demonstration" of the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

"With industrial conditions recognized as bad," he said, "with many out of employment, yet it is singularly significant that the people had plenty of money to spend on Christmas gifts, adding yuletide cheer to homes and making the Christmas of 1921 the happiest ever known. It is self-evident that much of the savings that entered into the Christmas spirit resulted from expenditures which in other years went into the open saloon."

Outside Aid not Permitted.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Cooperation of voluntary associations with prohibition activities of the Internal Revenue Bureau must be absolutely distinct from law enforcement measures, Commissioner Blair declared today commenting on the reported formation of a nationwide business men's organization by S. Kress of Detroit.

Correspondence between Mr. Kress and prohibition commissioner Haynes, which was made public by Prohibition headquarters, quoted Mr. Haynes as welcoming the assistance and cooperation of the proposed business men's organization.

Sr. Blair declared that it was the function of the Internal Revenue Bureau to enforce the prohibition laws and that no outside aid would be permitted. There will be no dollar-a-year man in the internal revenue bureau, he said.

The executive said that obviously he would not undertake to determine a disputed question of fact and how far he should go in passing upon the sufficiency of evidence was a question in his mind.

Machold Says Legislation Will Be 'Short and Snappy'

Albany, Dec. 28.—Soldier bonus legislation will be considered early in the session of the state legislature, which will convene at noon next Wednesday, H. Edmund Machold, speaker of the assembly, said today.

Speaker Machold also predicted that the 1922 session would be "short and snappy." He said he could see no reason why the legislature should not be able to complete its business in time to adjourn by the middle of March.

An Investment of Sixty Three Dollars

The banks of this country, with their 27,000,000 depositors, own Public Utility Securities to the amount of approximately $1,700,000,000.

Therefore, each bank depositor has indirectly a financial interest in Public Utility Securities to the extent of Sixty-three Dollars.

At the present time, about 72% of our American homes are equipped with electrical service and each bank depositor is a partner in the power company which furnishes this service. The undeveloped field among the remaining homes and the demand for service in new homes, public buildings and commercial industries must be met during the next few years. The electric light and power industry of the United States is therefore really at its beginning, and its undeveloped field is almost unlimited.

We recommend the purchase of well-known Public Utility Securities at their present attractive prices.

TRADING IN STOCKS
ACTIVE AND BROAD

Firm to Strong Tone Pervades
Every Division During Early and Intermediate Periods

New York, Dec. 28.—Trading in stocks was active and broad, a firm to strong tone prevailing every division during the early and intermediate periods. Much of the advance, which ranged from one to three points, was cancelled later, however, on the unexpected rise of call loans to 5½ per cent.

Shipments, oils, motors and metals again were the leaders, but rails and shiplings, steel and food specialties participated in more than moderate measure. The strength of the sugars was surprising in view of the lower prices quoted for raw and refined products.

Individual features of strength included American Car, Pressed Steel Car, American Steel Foundries, Railways Steel Spring, Pullman, Haskell and Barker, Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt common and preferred, Mercantile Marine preferred, and the copper and kindred issues.

Among rails, transcontinentals led with Reading and other coalers, also St. Louis & Southwestern preferred and several of the junior eastern issues. Further postponement of dividend payments by Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis (Panhandle) indicated that earnings still leave much to be desired.

Miscellaneous specialties were represented by textiles, notably American Woolen, Cluett & Peabody, Manhasset Shirt and Phillips-Jones, together with chemicals, leathers and motion picture issues.

Foreign exchanges reacted to the more uncertain political advices from abroad.

All but one issue of the Liberty group closed at gains and the general bond list was active, strong and broad. Railroad bonds, especially Pennsylvania, Reading, Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison, Rock Island & Kansas, and Texas made appreciable gains.

White Plains, Dec. 28.—Motion pictures of a Coney Island scene, offered as evidence by the defense in the $50,000 suit of Miss Marie L. Frye of Peekskill against Walter B. Gage, Tarrytown school principal, were shown to Supreme Court Justice Young and a jury yesterday. The woman is seeking damages for injuries suffered when Mr. Gage's automobile ran her down in Peekskill a year ago. She claims to have been permanently disabled.

The film was taken with the assistance of two women detectives who gained Miss Frye's friendship. They reputedly had trailed her to Brooklyn last summer, taken up residence in the same block and made her acquaintance at a motion picture theatre. Together they made several trips to Coney Island and snapshots taken while the slums and the unsuspecting woman were enjoying themselves at the seashore were presented in court.

One of the detectives testified that she arranged with a motion picture photographer to be present when the party went to the resort last September, and while Miss Frye was walking down a flight of stairs on a recreation platform unassisted, she was photographed by the movie man. The detective said that in order to avoid confusion in identity, she held Miss Frye back until the stairway was clear. Half way down, when she saw the photographer cranking his machine, she tried to conceal her features, exclaiming that some one was trying to "get her." Her fears were allayed however, the detective testified, and she posed at the foot of the stairway for a snapshot.

Attorneys for Miss Frye objected to the jury seeing the films, contending that motion picture photographers by film trickery could distort the picture.

After the cameraman had testified that no subtleties had been employed and had identified Miss Frye as the woman he had photographed, Justice Young and the jury went to the jury room in the courthouse and saw the pictures.

WILL NOT BRING PEACE.

Harry J. Boland, who has been the Irish candidate envoy in America, declared on Tuesday that the treaty with England would not bring peace. His influence, if he has any, will, he says, be thrown behind DeValera.

Just how much influence Boland will have on his own shores is of course problematical; but it is true that many residents of Ireland appear to have the same convictions and to be as bitterly opposed to compromise.

What the British government now offers is more than any Irish patriot during the last three centuries would have expected. All of them would, it is asserted, have relented at the opportunity to secure such a settlement, or one far less in far-reaching extent. Moreover, it is such a settlement as the rank and file of the thoughtful sons of Erin gladly would embrace as a means whereby the strife and bloodshed of hundreds of years might be done away with.

If settlement is not reached now, it will generally be believed that it is because certain factors do not at heart desire peace. All settlements of national questions by treaty are of necessity compromises, and both England and Ireland in the one under consideration have conceded much. Should compromise not be accepted now, grave consequences are likely to follow. Patience on both sides is stretched to the breaking point, and continued tension is intolerable. Surely human life is worth something; and the members of the Dail Eireann should not quibble too long or too much.

A FOREIGN FORCE.

The death of Rear Admiral Charles Davis, a brother-in-law of Senator Lodge, brings to mind the fact that when the city of Kingston was strucken by earthquake the admiral landed a company of marines from the American ships to assist in the work of rescue. For this humane act he was "called" by Governor Sweetland in a curt note which protested against the landing of a "foreign force" on the soil of Jamaica. Though Davis was commended in parliament and praised by President Roosevelt, the letter evidently rankled, and once when he was in England on a diplomatic mission and told that the king would like to see him, he explained that he had no time to go to London.

The Jamaica episode, while reflecting credit on Admiral Davis, indicates that often men of small culture, such as Sweetland evidently was, manage to serve in important positions and to "get by with it" until an emergency arises. Then, too often, they lose their temper; and their real characteristics are revealed.

MADE THE DOLLAR FAMOUS.

There are many owners of Ingersoll watches who will be interested in the announcement that the manufacturing company, owing three millions of dollars and having assets of two millions, has just filed a petition in bankruptcy. The proceedings are begun by three New York creditors, to whom the company owes $450,000.

Robert T. Ingersoll was the originator of the dollar watch. Later he invented the slogan, "The Watch That Made the Dollar Famous," which was perhaps the most catchy of advertising lines ever exploited. When the war brought the cost of everything higher, the expression lost something of its significance, since it became impossible to sell watches for the figure indicated. However, from the day of the original Waterbury to the present there have been over one hundred millions of these watches sold, a figure which even the Ford in its glory has not yet attained.

TUBERCULOSIS AND ITS CURE

Dread Disease Can Be Eradicated If Taken in Time—Free Examinations Made Today at Community House.

The first symptoms of tuberculosis is a cough which persists for several weeks, a hoarseness of the voice, fever, rapid pulse or chills, there may be loss of strength, of weight, of appetite; there may be frequent attacks of indigestion, night sweats or spitting of blood. A person may notice that he is easily fatigued and not refreshed by sleep. In some cases the disease may be present and give rise to no noticeable symptoms, and the first real sign will be a slight hemorrhage.

Tuberculosis can be cured if taken in time. The earlier diagnosis the better the chance of cure. Free examinations are made for all residents of Otsego County by Dr. Winsor, at the Oneonta Community House, the first Thursday of each month.

The cure for tuberculosis consists in the restoration and healing of the tissues destroyed by the tubercle bacillus. This is brought about by putting the patient at rest in the fresh air and by feeding him good, wholesome, nourishing food. The combination of fresh air, rest and good food, together with a correct mental attitude, and all under proper medical supervision, will cure tuberculosis if the disease is discovered in time.

Such care and treatment is given at the Oneonta Sanatorium for those having tuberculosis. Last year 29 cases were cured or arrested.

The Sweet Tooth.

Christmas candy is considerably lower in price than it was a year ago; and it ought to be, for sugar—from which it is supposed candy is made—is selling at retail from five to six cents a pound. But they don't seem to have knocked off very much in the price of the boxes.—Bilica Observer.

WHAT THE PAPERS ARE SAYING

A Rembrandt For Song.
The fact that a Rembrandt worth $2,000 was sold at auction in London for $90 raises again the question of the difference between the intrinsic and the extrinsic value of works of art. Many a time some masterpiece has changed hands at a price which would have been beyond the wildest dreams of the painter. On in the name rather than the work lies the sum paid. Even forgeries have been bought for originals. Unless it be held that an unknown painter may be quite as great a genius as a known one, the natural conclusion is that critical taste in art is exceedingly fallible.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Spirit and the Letter.

President Harding takes the common sense view of it when he insists that the really important thing about the Washington conference is that it is being held, rather than the legal text of the agreements reached. It is the spirit that counts, rather than the letter. The agreements will be of value only so long as there is the spirit to respect them. If the spirit is wanting, they are only so many sets of paper.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Brutality Not Sport.

The attention of American sporting editors should be called to a case just decided by the Court of Appeals at Rouen, France. A football player named Langenove, who struck an opposing player with his fist in the course of a rugby football game, had been sentenced by the lower courts to four months in jail and to pay 6,000 francs damages. The Court of Appeals has just settled the matter by reducing the time to seventy-five days in jail, but raising the damages to 10,000 francs. The opinion of the higher court, however, that "brutality is incompatible with real sport," seems to accord completely with the lower court's view.—Philadelphia Record.

A Long Step Forward.

"The quadruple alliance as announced at Washington on behalf of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, is a long step in the direction of the preservation of world peace. Not only do these powers in the foundation for the adjudication of all issues affecting the regions in the Pacific, but by so doing they prepare the way for more elaborate working arrangement between all nations to the end that disarmament may be achieved and peace now be safeguarded."—Los Angeles Times.

Moral Obligation.

There is the biggest sort of a row in political circles in Washington over the naming of the thing—which the conclusion arrived at by the world conference is to be called “an agreement” or “a treaty,” when the obligations imposed on the nations composing the conference are to be “legal” or morally “moral.” Some of us have had the impertinence to ask, to be shown what a treaty is, unless it is an agreement, and some statesmen are curious to find out if Senator Sumner’s declaration that findings of the world conference only impose “moral obligations,” and hence are not binding—whether that sample of political morality is 100 per cent Americanism. Ithaca, N. Y., News and Observer.

Titres With France.

France and America are indeed bound together by ties which lie deeper than formal treaties, and it is pleasing to read that the French minister of war chose to lay renewed emphasis upon this fact in his speech at the unveiling of a memorial tablet today in making this plan a success. If those Americans who lost their lives in the Foreign Legion. He was profoundly correct in saying that the friendly solidarity of the two nations is more important than any alliance, and it is just this fundamental truth which interposes such difficulties in the way of understanding the French demands in regard to naval armament. There should be no doubt in the mind of any Frenchman that the insistence on a naval program which would imperil the success of the Washington conference would be regarded in America as an unnecessary and unjustifiable obstacle to the fulfillment of hopes upon which millions of Americans have set their hearts, and would in large measure weaken that “friendly solidarity” of which M. Barthou properly talk—Eduardo Simeone.

Use Checks.

Persons who persist in ignoring their opportunity to put their money where taxes cannot get it and to protect themselves by carrying only small amounts of cash, invite robbery. There are, however, alert individuals of both sexes looking out for the invitation.—Altonville Courier Journal.

Returns From Adventures in Far East

You Never Can Tell What a Pup's Going to Grow IntoMUNICIPAL SKATING RINK

Former World's Champion Ice Skater Tells How Such a Project Can be Promoted With Little Work and Expense.

The following summary of a contribution to the Troy Times of recent date by Bobby McLean, former champion ice skater of the world, on a plan for promoting of a municipal skating rink will be read with interest by many as the project is entirely feasible here.

There is an opportunity in every town for one to render a community service by creating interest in and putting forward a plan to provide safe and convenient public skating places for the boys and girls and their older brothers and sisters who desire to skate. This is not a new idea but has already been carried out in many towns and cities and will be found practical in any place in Troy where ice forms during the cold season. The time and attention necessary to insure the success of such a project will be slight in proportion to the returns and satisfaction achieved.

Although not absolutely essential it is well to organize a committee of other interested citizens to work with the mayor or chief executive before the matter is brought up to them. It is unnecessary for the council to act. Sometimes a letter from the mayor to the commissioners of each park board and the fire commission will be sufficient to accomplish the desired result.

Interest of Municipal Officials.

The next step is to take the matter up with the mayor or chief executive. It is best to present the proposition to him verbally and suggest the location you have selected as desirable for skating. You can later confirm your statements by a letter outlining the entire plan. This will be used in presenting the proposition to other municipal officials who are interested.

Point out to him what has already been done in some places the benefits to be derived and the necessity for providing safe and convenient skating

SOUR MILK FOR CHICKENS.

Much Preferred by Poultrymen to Newer Product.

Although either sweet or sour milk may be fed to chickens, the poultrymen at the state agricultural college at Ithaca recommend some milk because it stays "as it" better than sweet. The point is, they say, that changing from sweet to sour and back again is bad for chickens, and it is much easier to have a constant quality of sour milk than it is always to be sure that the milk is sweet.

In other words, one can always depend on his milk's being sour if it is left to stand long enough, but he can never be sure that it will stay sweet until it is eaten, no matter what condition it may be in when it is placed in the henhouse.

Regarding whether sweet or sour milk is fed, successful poultrymen see to it that the containers for the milk they feed are kept clean.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON)

My dear Baker:

Thank you for your letter of December twenty-third, which gave me a great deal of pleasure. I have a trunk full of papers, and the next time you are down here I would like to have you go through them and see what they are, and what the best use is that can be made of them. I plunked them into the trunk in Paris and have not had time or physical energy even to sort or arrange them. I am looking forward with great satisfaction to the work you are purposing to do, and have no doubt that it will be of the highest value.

With the best wishes of the season,

Cordially and faithfully yours,

Mr. Ray Stannard Baker,

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up
This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick relief. Easy and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most effective remedy of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothng influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat tops and you get a great night's sound sleep. The taste is not strong, but it is delicious, and it can't burn the mouth or throat. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat ticks, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pine oil into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar, stir and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the price. Keeps perfectly and doesn't burn the mouth or throat.

Phox is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norgay pino extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment at your druggist, for 2½ ounces of Phox with all its benefits, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Phox Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
